

Inspiring International & Global Education training event

In a fast changing, globalised world, education needs to help students understand the wider world around them and make the global connections between issues such as economic well being, sustainable living and their own lives. It should prepare them to live and work in a global society and economy and engage them to make the world a better place.

Doug Bourne, DERC, Institute of Education

Featuring 2 Guest speakers:-

Doug Bourne, Director of the Development Education Research Centre, at the Institute of Education

Karen Barnes, Programme Director for Global Learning Programme, at Pearson UK and

34 Workshops facilitated by Lynn Cutler, Programme Director at GLADE

This training event is aimed at KS2,3&4 teachers with responsibility or enthusiasm for international education and global learning. It will be of interest to Senior Leaders and Governors.

Venue: Monk's Yard, Horton Cross, Nr. Ilminster TA19 9PT

Register by emailing lynn@glade.org Registrations close 4 October 2013

Time: 9.15 registration for 9.30 start; 3.30 end.

Date: Friday 18 October 2013 Cost: £65 online payment is available

International and Global Education is about becoming aware of the wider world and the connections we all have within our daily lives.

It's about nurturing those skills for independent and reflective learning, gaining knowledge about the wider world and the different perspectives on important issues, and it's about building a values base to critically reflect on what is learnt from different sources.

GLADE believes that education making those important connections, fosters

- Critical and creative thinking
- Reflective learning
- Respect and understanding of people's varied ways of living
- Understanding of factors that connect us all to each other
- Positive action for a more sustainable future

All this, so our pupils can make greater sense of the world in which they live now, and be active in preparing for the world of their future.

This conference draws in findings from research, previews a new government initiative to embed global learning and development education in schools throughout KS2 and KS3, hopes to recruit interested teachers to a new project for a multi media approach to global learning, and shares classroom activities that measure attitudinal change.

GLADE hopes the conference will

- help schools and their teachers vision a school ethos and curriculum that is centred on 21st century learning skills and inclusive values.
- make a contribution to broader school thinking around professional development, pupil motivation and engagement and the potential for school-community collaboration.

Places are limited so please register by email to lynn@glade.org

Registrations close 4 October 2013

Guest speaker; Doug Bourne, Director of Development Education Research Centre , Institute of Education London :-

Research updates from the Development Education research Centre based at Institute of Education, London

Find out about research-based evidence that demonstrates international & global education is good education and delivers to

WORKSHOP 1 A multi-media approach to effective global learning funded by the EU

A preview of film and activities to be used in this project.

Find out how your school can join a project that uses popular and innovative materials for effective teaching and learning.

<http://www.glade.org/detail/?id=170&cat=project>

WORKSHOP 3 Global Teachers Award

Taster materials used on this taught course.

Launched by the Consortium of Development Education Centres, and endorsed by Oxfam, the Global Teacher's Award (GTA) supports teachers in developing the skills, confidence and practical approaches to incorporate global learning into the curriculum, and to promote active global citizenship in the classroom.

The next course will be run in Somerset on Fri 6th December 2013.

Guest Speaker; Karen Barnes, Programme Director for Global Learning Programme:-
New Government initiative for KS2&3

The Global Learning Programme is a new government funded programme that launches across England this term. It will operate on a hub and spoke model providing training, funding and support networks for KS2 & 3 teachers.

<http://globaldimension.org.uk/glp>

WORKSHOP 2 Monitoring & measuring attitudinal change

Try out and take away activities that can help measure attitudinal change that presents particular challenges for assessment. The deep learning that impacts on who we are and how we choose to live our lives. Find out how to measure the positive contributions our pupils make.

WORKSHOP 4 Global Bites

A Global Bite is a simple, short, informal activity designed to get people of all ages to think about global issues. You don't need teaching expertise to organise and run a Global Bite at a fete, fair, meeting, holiday scheme etc. Helpful to schools wanting to engage reluctant learners.

Conference agenda;

9:15 arrival & registration

9.30 welcome & introductions

9.45; Guest speaker 1; Doug Bourne DERC

10.30; Workshop 1 Multi media in the classroom

11.15; break

11.30; workshop 2; Measuring attitudinal change

12.30; lunch

1.15; Guest speaker 2; Karen Barnes, GLP

2.00; workshop 3; increasing teacher capability

2.45 Workshop 4; Global Bites

3.15 afternoon tea & end